ABSTRACT

THE ADMINISTRATIVE RESPONSIBILITY FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE AND SECRETARY OF THE MUNICIPAL

The research examines the accountability of the municipal secretary of revenue in the light of recent case law. Preliminarily, we analyzed how the Italian legal system is meant loss of revenue for the damage suffered by the state or other public entity as a result of the action or omission of a person acting on behalf of the public administration, as an official, employee or manager, or otherwise added to his organizational apparatus. In the continuing research is addressed, however, the question of the separation of politics and administration in relation to the important effects that it produces in terms of accountability of revenue. The heart of the analysis is represented by a thorough examination of the case law concerning the municipal secretary and the new forms of liability provided by the recent laws on prevention of corruption and transparency. The search ends, then, with the deepening of the issues related to the role of the secretary in charge of the prevention of corruption.
